Brief about me

Creative engagement is my nature. So I keep myself busy into the things that gives outlet to my creative fluids. It could be any out of the box idea to solve design problem, an UI or an icon.

My career started as a designer and worked for more than eight years. Initially I worked into Graphic Designing where exposure to e-learning industry shaped me to understand an approach towards UID. In my current professional life as a UI/Visual Designer I had worked with many top clients serving many design solutions to craft web portals, web and mobile applications.

Creativity is the key element for any designer. Another important elements that fascinates me that is a design principle, "Form follows function". Anything you add to a design has to serve a strong purpose that meets the goal of a user. And so my approach towards my design is to solve a problem. Doesn't matter if the problem is smaller or bigger, for me its most important thing to resolve. This approach led me to hone my skills as a front end developer. In recent time I groomed myself into front end development so that I could translate design concepts and ideas into reality using front end technology. I look forward to hone my skills and adopt new technologies that could make me a digital thinker and an independent problem solver.

Apart from this Indian Classical Music (Hindustani) is been part of my life since my childhood. I learnt Vocal as well as Tabla. This passion offered me plenty of grand opportunities to share the stage with many artists and performed at reknowned music festivals.
